Passage1

Dictionaries are inevitable reference books for all language learners to develop their vocabulary. Monolingual and bilingual dictionaries are two main types of dictionaries. In monolingual dictionaries, the meaning of all entries are provided in the language that the person is learning whereas each word in a bilingual dictionary is defined by means of learner's native language.

I don't want to spent ages discussing the rights and wrongs of using a bilingual dictionary, but it is a painful reality that elementary learners mostly prefer to use this particular type of dictionaries immediately after their attempts to figure out the meaning of a noun, phrase or expression in a passage end in failure.

23. How do words are defined in a monolingual dictionary? ...

24. What kind of dictionary does the writer mean by referring to "this particular type of Dictionaries" "...?

Passage 2

A 90-year-old Kenyan grandmother has become the world's oldest elementary school student. Priscilla Sitienei, also known as Gogo, is from a small village in Kenya. She is studying at the local elementary school to learn to read and write. Ms. Sitienei has spent most of her life working as a midwife, helping babies to be born. She wants to be able to read and write so that she can pass on her midwifery skills and write down the special herbal remedies she uses when she delivers babies. She also wants to be able to read the Bible. Ms. Sitienei said she never had a chance to go to school when she was younger. She says she knows she is old but hopes she will set an example to younger people. She wants all the children in her village to study. When Ms. Sitienei first tried to enroll at school, the head teacher David Kinyanjui did not think it was a good idea. Now he is very happy that Gogo is at the school. Mr. Kinyanjui said: "Gogo is a blessing and a motivator". He added: "I'm very proud of her. She is loved by every pupil. They all want to learn and play with her." He also said: "She is doing well considering her age. I can say I have seen a big difference in this school since she came." Gogo had a message for children everywhere, saying: "I want to say to them, especially girls, that education will be your wealth." She added: "With education, you can be whatever you want- a doctor, a lawyer or a pilot."
